

```
<HTML>

<HEAD>

<TITLE>CATEGORIES OF BOOKS IN E-LIBRARY</TITLE>

<STYLE>

BODY

{

    BACKGROUND-COLOR:#f0f8ff;

    FONT-FAMILY:CURSIVE;

}

OL LI

{

    COLOR:#008000;

    FONT-SIZE:16PX;

}

UL LI

{

    COLOR: BLUE;

    FONT-SIZE:14PX;

}

OL OL LI

{

    COLOR:#FF0000;

    FONT-SIZE:14PX;

}

.mycolor

{

    BACKGROUND-COLOR:#ff0000;

}

</STYLE>

</HEAD>
```

<BODY>

<H1 ALIGN="CENTER"> CATEGORIES OF BOOKS IN E-LIBRARY</H1>

<OL>

<LI>ACADEMICS</LI>

<UL>

<li>Mathematics</li>

<OL>

<LI>PART-I Analytical Geometry</LI>

<DL>

<DT><IMG SRC="geo.gif" width=45 />Geometry</DT>

<DD>The pure mathematics of points, lines, curves and surfaces</DD>

</DL>

<LI>PART-II Calculus</LI>

<DL>

<DT><IMG SRC="calculus.gif" width=45 />Calculus</DT>

<DD>Calculus is the study of 'Rates of change'</DD>

</DL>

<LI>PART-III Trigonometry</LI>

<DL>

<DT><IMG SRC="trig.jpg" width=45 />Trigonometry</DT>

<DD>The mathematics of triangles and trigonometric functions</DD>

</DL>

</OL>

<li>Computer Science</li>

<OL>

<LI>PART-I Operating System</LI>

<DL>

<DT><IMG SRC="OS.jpg" width=45 />Operating System</DT>

<DD> System software that works as an interface between user and computer</DD>

</DL>

<LI>PART-II Programming Languages</LI>

<DL>

<DT><IMG SRC="PL.jpg" width=45 />Programming Language</DT>

<DD>A programming language is a computer language that is used by programmers (developers) to communicate with computers.
It is a set of instructions written in any specific language
( C, C++, Java, Python) to perform a specific task.</DD>

</DL>

<LI>PART-III Database Systems</LI>

<DL>

<DT><IMG SRC="DS.jpg" width=45 />Database System</DT>

<DD>Software which is used to manage the database. It interacts with end user, applications and the database itself.</DD>

</DL>

</OL>

</UL>

<LI> PERSONALITY DEVELOPMENT</LI>

<UL>

<LI> Jonathan Livingston Seagull. By Richard Bach.</LI>

<DL>

<DT>Jonathan Livingston Seagull</DT>

<DD> Swith lines like: “Don’t believe what your eyes are telling you. All they show is limitation,” this book will move you deeply.
I re-read it in Thailand. Still amazingly good.</DD>

</DL>

<LI> Think and Grow Rich. By Napoleon Hill.</LI>

<DL>

<DT>Think and Grow Rich</DT>

<DD> Fantastic book. Not so much about financial wealth as it is about the making of a rich life. You’ll learn how important it is to have a burning desire (this galvanizes your focus and causes the release of your creativity) + the imperative of setting clear goals + the value of “a mastermind alliance”.</DD>

</DL>

<LI> The Meditations of Marcus Aurelius. By—well, Marcus Aurelius.</LI>

<DL>

<DT>The Meditations of Marcus Aurelius</DT>

<DD> Marcus Aurelius was a warrior—who then became a Roman emperor. He wrote his lessons on greatness and a life well lived during a multi-year military campaign. Someone got his notes. And put it into this book.</DD>

</DL>

<LI> Stop Acting Rich. By Thomas Stanley.</LI>

<DL>

<DT>Stop Acting Rich</DT>

<DD> Thomas Stanley became famous for “The Millionaire Next Door”. But this book—not so well known—is exceptional. He explains the concept of “The Glittering Rich”, shares how too many of us live beyond our means and how to create true financial freedom. </DD>

</DL>

</UL>

<LI> GENERAL STUDIES</LI>

<LI> SPORTS AND GAMES</LI>

</OL>

</BODY>

</HTML>